

8-4

Abstract

The invention relates to an agent for the depletion of unwanted proteins from plasma comprising a plurality of ligands covalently co-linked to produce a complex with a plurality of proteins wherein at least two of the ligands are capable of being bound by ligand binding sites on the proteins and wherein the non-protein access agent excludes certain D-proline derivatives.

005150-00000000